Course Number 5064 : Advanced Training in Collaborative & Proactive Solutions: Moving From Power and Control to Collaboration and Problem Solving

*Course Description: This course accompanies the AEP Connections online conference held on March 14 & 15, 2024.

This two-day intensive training will instruct educators and mental health clinicians on how to foster a collaborative partnership between adults and kids in engaging kids in solving the problems that affect their lives. The CPS model is based on the premise that challenging behavior occurs when the expectations being placed on a kid exceed the kid's capacity to respond adaptively, and that some kids are simply lacking the skills to handle certain expectations. Rather than focusing on challenging behaviors (and modifying them), the model places emphasis on identifying the expectations the kid is having difficulty meeting (called unsolved problems) and solving them. Participants will learn how to use and practice using the Assessment of Lagging Skill and Unsolved Problems (ALSUP). Participants will also learn the ins and outs of solving problems collaboratively (Plan B) rather than unilaterally (Plan A). Dr. Greene will provide extensive discussion of the three steps of Plan B: (1) the Empathy Step, which involves gathering information from the child so as to achieve the clearest understanding of his or her concern or perspective on a given unsolved problem and involves the use of drilling strategies; (2) the Define Adult Concerns step, which involves entering into consideration the adult concern or perspective on the same unsolved problem; and (3) the Invitation step, which involves having the mental health clinician or educator and kid collaborate on solutions so as to arrive at a plan of action that is both realistic and mutually satisfactory. Strategies to deal with the roadblocks commonly encountered when implementing the CPS model, in addition to describing strategies for working with complex issues with children, families and school settings. Lecture, practice sessions, and video demonstrations will be utilized as means of instruction.

The use of evidence-based best practices for instruction, assessment, discipline, and use of technology all will require this four-step process before we will see real improvement in schools.*

*Connection to CUW Mission: This course will require educators to demonstrate the ability to analyze and apply their discipline's theoretical, methodological, ethical, or practical foundations. This will enable them to help their own students develop more readily in mind, body, and spirit as well.
