Conflict Prevention and Resolution through IEP Meeting Facilitation

August 19 - August 20, 2024

Live & Self-Study blended format, 8:00am -3:30pm Central Time

Presenters: Robin O'Shea, Ph.D. & Cassie Velasquez, M. Ed., M.D.R

COURSE OVERVIEW

The training is designed to teach an inclusive and ethical process to enable teams to collaborate effectively while preventing and managing conflict. This ensures that the meeting content and process stays focused on the needs of the individual student. That all conversations and decisions are made with interprofessional and family collaboration.

Combining online modules and live sessions, participants practice facilitation tools and techniques in actual simulations presented in a safe learning environment. In addition, robust discussion along with large and small group activities allows the learner to address questions based on their own experiences as well as meetings being experienced from a culturally diverse lens. Trainers provide prompts for the participants to reflect upon and learn practical techniques to ensure their meetings are diverse, equitable, and inclusive.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

This 12-hour training is a blended learning format consisting of approximately 4.5 hours of independent, self-study work presented through a learning management system (LMS) and 7.5 hours of live sessions delivered through Zoom meeting platform. Please review the detailed agenda for time commitments required, prior to registering for this course.

While this is a course that incorporates independent self-study videos, there is a timeframe that these need to be completed, so being available for both days for the allotted time is highly recommended. This virtual training is limited to 30 participants. If the course does not reach the minimum number of participants required, AEP Connections will notify participants 1 week prior to the start of the course. Participant's registration will transfer to the next scheduled training available.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?
