From Theory to Tools:

A Hands-On Approach to Building Executive Function Supports

SPEAKER: SARAH WARD, M.S., CCC-SLP

Live Interactive Course

September 22nd - October 15th

Please see dated agenda (page 2 & 3) for details

COURSE DESCRIPTION

In this hybrid course, participants will first complete a core on-demand module to build an understanding of the 360 Thinking Model and core executive function concepts. Then, in the live, interactive sessions, we'll move from theory to application as you create customized executive function tools tailored to your setting.

Whether this is your first introduction to 360 Thinking or you've attended a previous presentation, this session is your opportunity to take your practice to the next level. We're going beyond learning about strategies—this is where we make them, use them, and fine-tune them in real time.

This is a “make and take” experience—come ready to cut, glue, draft, design, and build! You'll walk away with tools you've created during the session, along with feedback on how to tweak and apply them with students, clients, or in your classroom the very next day. It's a roll-up-your-sleeves, hands-on experience designed to equip you with practical, ready-to-use interventions.

KEY FEATURES

On-Demand Learning: Review our research-based EF model and core intervention framework on your own time.

Hands-On Practice: Collaboratively create visual tools, planning guides, and intervention visuals with direct coaching and support.

Real-Time Feedback: Work through common missteps and get individualized guidance.

Toolbox Expansion: Leave with finished materials, templates, and implementation plans you can use right away.

Designed for Educators and Clinicians: Whether you're in a therapy room, classroom, or coaching setting—this is for you.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

SLPs, OTs, school psychologists, special educators, general educators, academic and ADHD coaches, and mental health clinicians supporting executive function development. There are no pre-requisites for this class. This class is an intermediate level course.

If you require special assistance, please contact AEP Connections to inform them of your special needs by emailing: info@aeconnections.com or calling: 833.237.2668

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

By the end of this hybrid course, participants will be able to:

1. Identify and describe core executive function (EF) domains as outlined in the 360 Thinking™ Model.
2. Assess EF breakdowns and design appropriate intervention tools to support planning, initiation, time awareness, working memory, and self-regulation.
3. Construct at least three practical tools to support students' EF skill development.
4. Create customized visual supports and intervention tools to address the specific needs of individual students, clients, or classroom groups.
5. Evaluate implementation readiness by identifying common missteps and personalizing tools with instructor guidance.
6. Create an implementation plan for integrating at least one tool into their practice within the next two weeks.
